Tucked away in the heart of Corpus Christi, Playground Exchange is more than just a vintage reselling business—it is a relentless treasure hunt. With salt-kissed air and the hum of the Gulf nearby, its owner, Felipe, scoured every forgotten corner, from dusty estate sales to sun-faded antique shops. His mission was simple: unearth the most timeless, vintage pieces and bring them back to life. Whether it's a perfectly distressed band tee from a 1970s rock concert or a delicate Art Deco brooch hidden in a grandmother's attic, he searched high and low, following whispers of history that led him to the most unexpected finds.

His pursuit of vintage gold took him far beyond the usual thrift store shelves. He dug through the bins on Port & Ayers, struck up deals with old women selling relics from their youth, and even negotiated trades at roadside flea markets, where the true gems were buried under decades of dust. Every item in Playground Exchange has a past, a personality, a soul. Felipe doesn't just sell clothes or accessories—he sells stories. Each treasure came with a tale: a pearl-handled pocket watch that had traveled the world, a perfectly faded Harley tee worn on the legendary streets of Corpus Christi, or a pair of Miss Me jeans that had danced through countless Texas nights.

As word spreads, we hope that collectors, fashion lovers, and nostalgic souls flock to Playground Exchange, drawn by the shop's ever-changing selection of rare finds. Their storefront, adorned with Black Cat Books, and Resurrection Clothing, will become a beacon for those who value the charm of the past. Every piece we have sourced was a labor of love, a testament to the idea that the past is never truly gone—it's just waiting to be rediscovered. And so, with every road trip, every attic crawl, and every dust-covered bin searched through, Felipe will carry on, proving that in Corpus Christi, history wasn't just preserved—it was worn, lived, and loved all over again.

XLVII, TEE

ええ、私は世界を、私の世界を、根本的に変えることができるかのように行動しています。
私はいつもそうしています。
私はリスクを冒しました。
しかし、それがとても充実感を与えるのであれば、それは本当に「リスク」なのでしょうか？

なぜ今まで自分を疑っていたのだろうか？
私は自分を十分評価したことがなかった。
これは素晴らしい気分だ。
罪悪感と疑いのかすかなヒントとともに素晴らしい。
本当に大切なのは愛だけです。
他者への愛、自分への愛、創造物への愛、生命への愛。

すべては美しく、すべてはデザインされている。
ただ目を開けるだけでいい。
私の目はついに開いた。

その日、私は悪循環を断ち切りました。進化し、生き、愛するために変化しました；

わかりました、クリエイティブな力の皆さん、仕事の質はあなたが管理してください。
私は出勤して仕事をする責任を負います。

Yeah, I am acting as if it were possible to radically transform the world, my world.
I find myself doing it all of the time.
I took a risk.
But is it really a “risk” if it feels so fulfilling?

Why did I ever doubt myself?
I never gave myself enough credit.
This feels amazing.
Amazing with that subtle hint of guilt & doubt;
I am only human.
Love is the only thing that really matters at all.
Love for others, love for self,
love for creation, love for life;

Everything is beautiful, it's all designed.
You just have to open your eyes.
My eyes are open; Finally.

That day I broke the cycle; To change to Evolve, to live, and to love;

Okay creative force,
You take care of the quality of the work.
I'll take care of showing up and doing the work.

[FIRST MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN]

This magazine campaign was a turning point in my life. It awakened a passion for design I never knew existed within me. While I had dabbled in Photoshop for smaller projects before, building a cohesive aesthetic for a brand was a completely different experience. For the first time, I realized I had the ability to shape how a brand was perceived—transforming its image into something iconic within the city. Even more, I saw the potential of design alone to drive significant growth and sales, which felt both powerful and inspiring.

This image quickly became iconic to me, as it was the foundation of my very first design for the Playground campaign. It made me realize how essential strong photography is in elevating good design—how the right image can define the entire aesthetic, while the wrong one could completely undermine it. Looking back, I know this photograph was a key factor in the success of that design.
